

Prisma Health Earns 2019 CHIME HealthCare's Most Wired Recognition

The College of Healthcare Information Management Executives (CHIME) recently named Prisma Health as 2019 CHIME HealthCare's Most Wired recognition as a certified level 8. The Most Wired program conducts an annual survey to assess how effectively health care organizations apply core and advanced technologies into their clinical and business programs to improve health and care in their communities.

Rich Rogers, senior vice president of information services and chief information officer for Prisma Health, was grateful for the recognition. "We are proud that all Prisma Health facilities have been recognized," he said. "This is a reflection of our continued commitment to automate standardized care practices, implement advanced technologies to assist our team members and use technology to help our patients and community members."

Dr. Mark Wess, vice president and chief information executive for Prisma Health, added, "CHIME's Most Wired is a great honor for our team members. The recognition energizes our team members to continue to advance our capabilities and exceptional service to our communities."

A total of 16,168 organizations were represented in the 2019 Most Wired program, which this year included three separate surveys: domestic, ambulatory and international.
