

How the new Workday platform will create an enhanced team member experience, coming July 2020!

Goodbye Lawson, Success Factors and Position Manager.
Hello Workday with mobile anytime, anywhere.

Goodbye fractured processes.
Hello to a system with processes built for a unified Prisma Health.

What is Workday? Workday is a cloud-based application with many built-in processes and workflows to support the complex nature of Prisma Health. It is more than just a system or implementation, it will refine the processes behind our team member life-cycle experience.

Who's leading it? The Workday program is a landmark effort to modernize and integrate systems in Finance, Human Resources, and Supply Chain. The program is sponsored by Kevin Hodge, vice president and corporate controller for Prisma Health. A Steering Committee representing Prisma Health leadership leads the program, along with over 50 carefully identified cross-functional Prisma Health team members.

What has the program team been up to? The team has been designing the system since early February by adopting Workday leading practices while always keeping the Prisma Health team member in mind through experience, automation and transparency.

What's next? During the summer and fall months, the team will focus on building and testing the system. Stay tuned for more information as it becomes available.

For more information or questions, please contact Stephanie Case or Melani Miller.